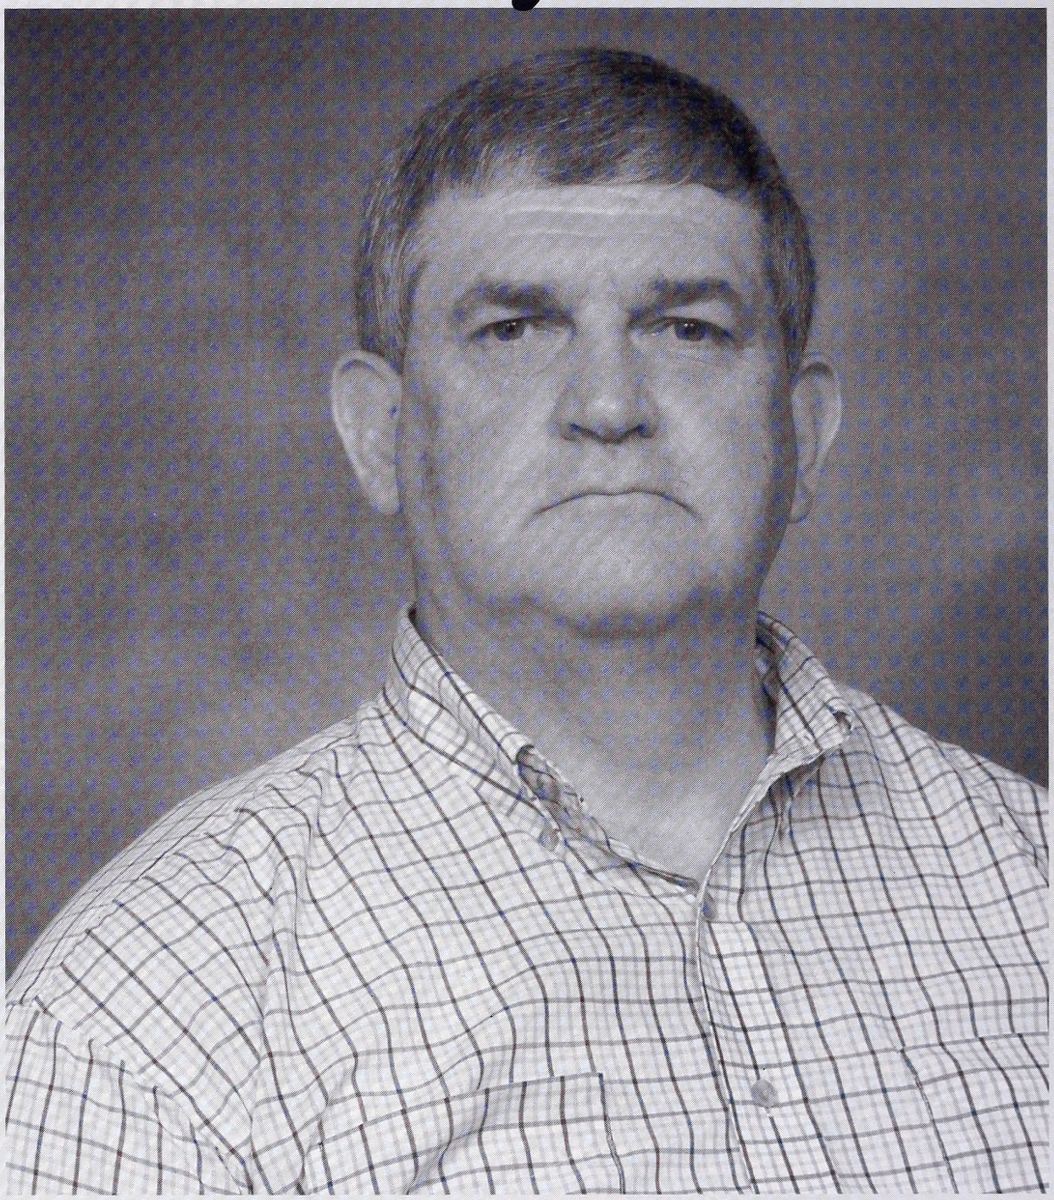
This book is dedicated to

Dr. Donny Lawson



Dr. Donny Lawson has been a member of the Copiah-Lincoln faculty since 1979, instructing students on the finer parts of Biology and Chemistry, and he has been the division chair person for the science division since 2001. Dr. Lawson received his bachelors, masters, and doctorate from the University of Southern Mississippi. He and his wife Dottie have two daughters and two grandchildren. Dr. Lawson has received many honors, including HEADWAE Instructor for 2004-2005, Who's Who Among America's Teachers six different years, Co-Lin's High Performance Award (2001), Phi Theta Kappa Faculty Scholar (1996), the Ann Bradberry Award (1997), Outstanding Instructor of the Year (1992), the Excellence in Teaching Award from NISOD (1992), and Phi Eta Sigma National Freshman Honor Society at USM (1968). In addition, he is an active member of the Brookway Church of Christ and is affiliated with Copiah-Lincoln Community College Educator's Association, National Arbor Day Foundation, and Mississippi Faculty Association for Community and Junior Colleges. His division members say he is a kind and compassionate leader and very worthy of this honor.

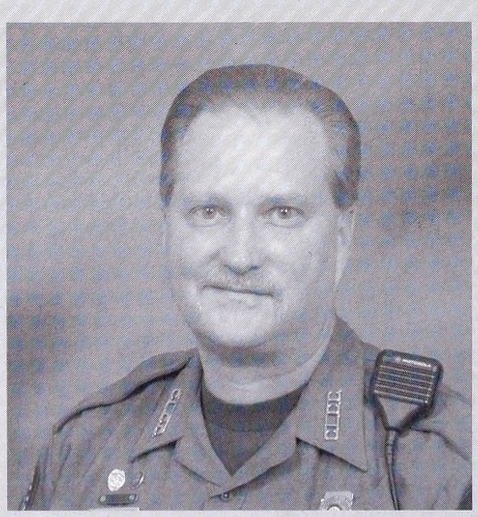
From the Foxholes

Mrs. Hardison Pevey spent the two weeks without phone, electricity, or much sleep. In addition to the damage from the hurricane, her six month old had a cold. Her lights were not restored until the night before school resumed.

Frank Augustin rode out the storm in his home outside of New Orleans. He eventually was forced to come north and is currently living above his uncle's clinic in Wesson. Frank was originally attending Delgado Community College in New Orleans.



Alvin Starkey, affectionately referred to as "Starsky," says he was lucky. He was at work at Co-Lin when the storm hit, and he and the other officers watched as trees fell and rooves blew off building, but nothing major happened--no fires, no injuries. Another lucky break for Starkey was that the lights at his home in Crystal Springs were only out a day and a half.

Co-Lin's 18 wheeler is loaded with generous donations of clothes, food and other supplies and taken to Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, which was hit hard by Hurricane Katrina, receiving damage to almost every building.

Hurricane Katrina

Even if you live under a rock, you could not have missed the big news story this past fall: Hurricane Katrina. Some of us prepared for the storm like it was an invasion from outer space, stocking up on water, canned goods, and filling generators with gasoline. Some were skeptical, convinced it would fizzle out like many others in the past; therefore, they rode out the storm in their homes.

Tragically, it did not fizzle; it banged hard on our doors. It destroyed what it encountered. Many of us were left in a state of shock, feeling somewhat like Dorothy in The Wizard of Oz. However, we knew we would not wake up in Kansas; our version of Kansas was long gone.

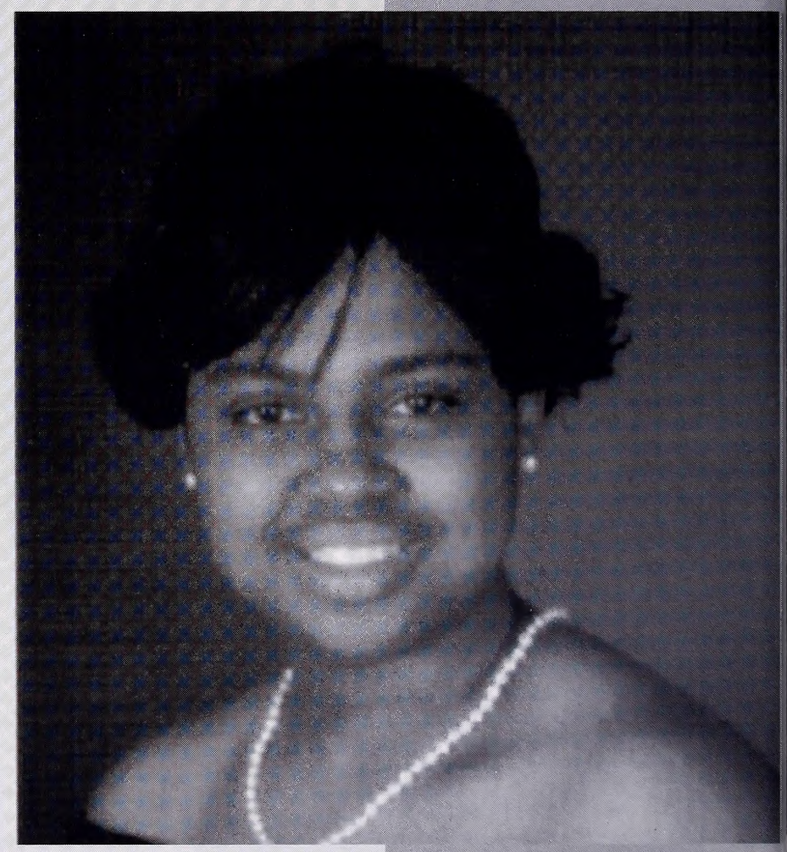
At the time of this writing, the official cost of the storm was still unknown, but already had surpassed the $10 billion experts originally predicted. New Orleans levee was breached, repaired, and breached again by Hurricane Rita, which followed closely behind Katrina. No one will soon forget the horror of the Superdome. Who would have imagined a casino could be lifted from her spot on the beach and deposit onto the Holiday Inn, onto Highway 90? Slabs mark where Waveland and Bay St. Louis once were booming cities.

So as the numbers rise: cost of the damage, displaced persons, newly unemployed, and unfortunately, fatalities, we count ourselves lucky to have survived.

Phi Theta Kappa members made and served home-made ice cream to evacuees from Louisiana and the Mississippi Gulf Coast. The sign reads: "Thank You."

Transplanted by Hurricane Katrina

Hurricane Katrina will go down in history as the storm that tested everyone and showed everyone what he or she was made of. Everyone had a hardship of some sort, but good came out of it as well. People opened their homes and hearts to help the people who had nothing left. Co-Lin opened its doors to allow students from schools affected by the hurricane to continue their education. Co-Lin received many students after Katrina, and each has a story to tell. Shaquanda, Patrick, and Lolita are three of the many fascinating stories.



Shaquanda Sanders, a double major in Biology and Physics, is a second year freshman from Wesson, where her parents still live. She was attending Xavier University when Katrina hit. While Xavier's campus received only minor damage, Shaquanda lost the majority of her possessions. Shaquanda says that Co-Lin, while very different from Xavier, is a good school.

Patrick Mooney, a pre-Pharmacy major, is from Gulfport, MS, and was attending Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College. The Mooney family received damage to their home and had downed trees, and Patrick's vehicle was also damaged. Patrick said Co-Lin was a good choice for him as his family had a home in Wesson, and he feels Co-Lin has more people and activities to offer than other places.

Lolita Payre, an EMT-P student, is from New Orleans and was attending Delgado Community College after being out of school for ten years. She and her son lost everything. Her son is also attending Co-Lin. Lolita says Co-Lin is hard, but if it was not "she wouldn't be learning anything."

Organization Katrina Efforts

The aftermath of Hurricane Katrina was extensive for this area. There was no power, gas was scarce, and there were no ways of getting food from places like Wal-Mart because the shelves had been emptied. But even with all of these problems, many people were ready to help out in any way they could. Many of the organizations at Co-Lin put together projects to help raise things to send to the coast, and others even visited the coast.

The Afro-American Studies Club collectedcanned goods and donated these canned goods to the Mississippi Salvation Army in Hattiesburg for the Hurricane Katrina victims.

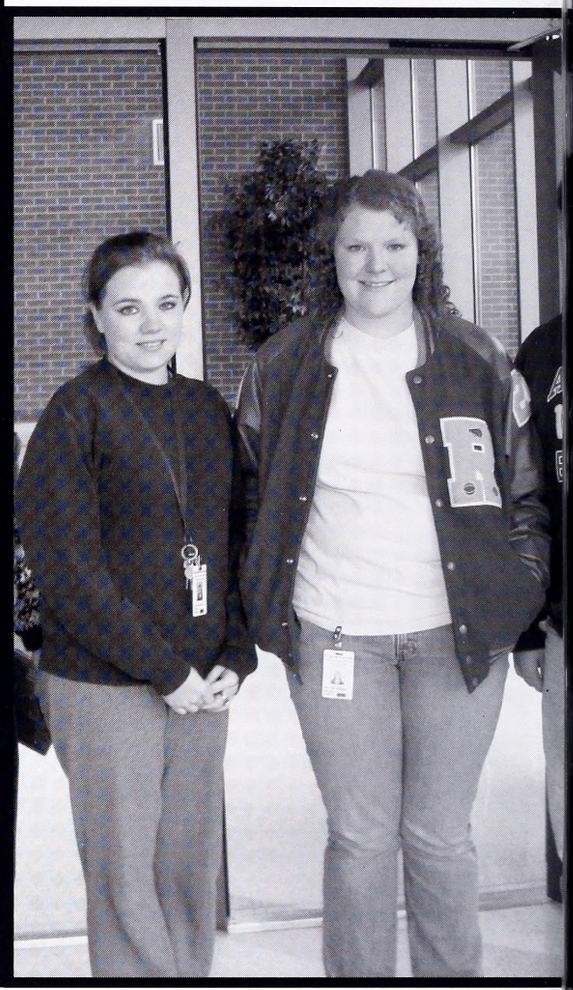
"Katrina struck our coast and battered and bruised us in so many ways. But the survivors who have integrity will come out of this tragedy better and more grateful people for surviving and recovering from such a tragic loss. We can only move forward, but we should always remember what it was like during the recovery of Katrina's aftermath. I hope that we are all more grateful and feel more blessed; there are families on the coast who have to start life over from scratch. May God bless them and keep them strong."
Mandy Tisdale

Above: Phi Theta Kappa visited Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College to donate money to a regional officer who lost everything to the hurricane.

The Martial Arts Club attended a seminar in October where part of the seminar was on Hurricane Katrina. They discussed how they coped with Katrina using Han philosophy. The club was able to hear stories from all across the United States, including many from Mississippi and Louisiana.

These pictures are from the Phi Theta Kappa. They took a trip to gulf coast on October 24, visiting the town of Ocean Springs, where most of the pictures on these pages were taken. During this trip, the members took school supplies to supplies to St. Martin High School and adopted a family. While there, they ate at O'Charley's. Their waitress told them her story from the time that Katrina hit until the present. After listening to her story, they decided to give her some money to help get her back on the road to recovery. On the way home, they drove through Louisiana to view the damage first hand. This was certainly an eye-opening experience.

Identity Crisis



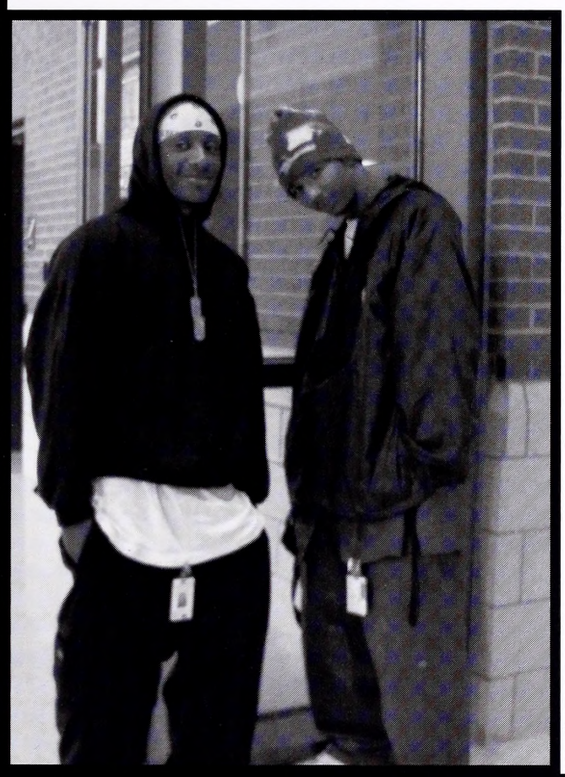
Faculty members are distinguished from students with "platinum" ID tags.

Vamped Up Security

New ID tags, a state-of-the art surveillance system, and classes aimed at protecting students are all part of the ongoing attempt to alleviate any feeling of fear on our campus

Stopping Crime Before It Starts

Students get creative in their attempt to comply with the rule of displaying their ID tags.



Watch out! Big Brother is watching!

Simpson County
third campus is a charm

The Simpson County facility opened its doors as a full-fledged campus this year. A new building was erected, and faculty was hired, making it the third part of the great trio that is Co-Lin. Running things in Magee is Dr. Billy Stewart, who has a rich history at Co-Lin. The new campus has eight classrooms, eleven faculty offices, three computer labs, two science labs, two conference rooms, a grill and dining services, a library, and many fantastic opportunities to offer students.

Copiah-Lincoln Community College's Board of Trustees approved the appointment of Dr. Billy Stewart as Dean of the new Simpson County Center in the spring of 2005. Stewart, who was previously the Dean of Community Service, said he was "extremely excited about this new opportunity." He also said that he was "very humbled with the confidence the Board of Trustees and Dr. Garner have placed in me." Stewart became Dean of Community Service in 1997. Prior to coming to Co-Lin in 1997, Stewart was a graduate research assistant in the department of educational leadership at Mississippi State University. He is also a former teacher, coach, and assistant principal in the Pearl Public School District. Stewart received his doctorate in philosophy in school administration from Mississippi State University. He holds a master of science degree in curriculum and instruction and a bachelor of science degree from the University of Southern Mississippi and is a 1986 graduate of Pearl High School. He and his wife, the former Stephanie Carmen Morris of Columbia, are the parents of four children.

Dr. Howell Garner

Our President

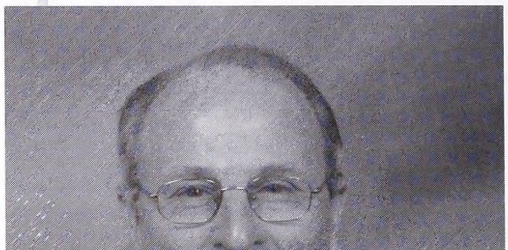
A seasoned veteran might be an accurate way to describe Dr. Howell Garner. He and his wife, Candy, have two sons, Justin and Brad. In addition to law school, he earned a bachelor's degree from Mississippi State University and his master's and doctorate from the University of Southern Mississippi. With over thirty years at Copiah-Lincoln Community College, Dr. Garner has dedicated over half his life to Co-Lin. This year, in addition to his normal duties, Dr. Garner spent countless hours preparing for and recovering from Hurricane Katrina. He made timely and informed discussions about closing and reopening school, about providing gas and other "hot" commodities to employees and the community, and kept those who could get to a computer informed on a daily basis of changes not only at Co-Lin but at other places, like Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College and Pearl River Community College, two of the hardest hit community colleges in the state. He encouraged those who could to donate time, supplies and money to help aid those affected. So even though he has more than thirty years under his belt, it is safe to say that the 2005-2006 school year will be one he remembers for the rest of his life.

Dr. Ronnie Nettles

Executive Vice President of the College

As if moving from Natchez to Wesson, adjusting to a new job, and raising his son Brandon and daughter Jordan with his wife Rosie is not enough, add a hurricane to the mix at the beginning of Dr. Nettles second year. Dr. Nettles has weathered many storms, though, in his years at Co-Lin, but this one was a literal storm.

Dr. Nettles earned his bachelor's degree in political science as well as his master's degree in counseling and personnel service from the University of Southern Mississippi. His doctorate was earned from the University of Mississippi in Educational Leadership. He is also a member of the board of directors for the Natchez Rotary Club and is a member of the Adams County Chapter of the Red Cross. This background clearly came in handy as Dr. Nettles tried to sort through the chaos of Hurricane Katrina's aftermath. Who knows what next year will bring? Perhaps some sense of normalcy is in store.



Louis Dugas loves the members of the Career-Technical Divsion. Even when he is not around, those who work for him say he is a good boss. Does that mean he takes it easy on them? Certainly not. He demands the best from those he leads, but he has been on the other side of his desk. Therefore, he is familiar with how difficult the instructor's life can be. He began his teaching career in 1971 at the Lafayette Parish School Board Vocational Center as an Electricity and Electronics teacher. During the last thirty-five years he has taught at Itawamba Community College and Hinds Community College. In addition to instructing, he has also served as a department chair at Itawamba and the Assistant Associate Dean of Vocational-Technical Instruction here at Co-Lin. From the late seventies to early eighties, Mr. Dugas worked in various positions, including Coordinator of Programs, for the Mississippi Department of Education. Not only has he done it all, he has done it well, receiving honors along the way. Two honors he received at Co-Lin include Staff Member of the Year (2004-2005) and the High Performance Award (January 2000). In addition to his illustrious career, Mr. Dugas is an active member of First Baptist Church in Raymond and a family man. He has made several mission trips all over the United States with his family. He and his wife, Kathy, have three children: Matt, Allison, and Caleb.

Mr. Louis Dugas

Dean of Career, Technical, and Workforce Education

Serving as Dean of Academic Instruction for the second year is Dr. Jane Hulon. Dr. Hulon first came to Co-Lin as the Director of Planning and Research, which accounts for her having a "head for numbers." Dr. Hulon has spent a great deal of time updating and technologically advancing how things are done at Co-Lin. One might say she has saved quite a few trees in addition to expediting the process by putting attendance forms on-line. Dr. Hulon can often be seen evaluating classes in Smith Hall, the Dow-Young Building, and Sandifer Hall, where most of the academic faculty teach. She is good about providing feedback and listening to problems that instructors encounter. No matter how busy her schedule may be, Dr. Hulon will take time to listen and help find an answer for those who work under her. Beneath that compassionate exterior lies a staunch disciplinarian. Students never like to find themselves on the other side of her desk because she goes "by the book" when it comes to punishing wrongdoing and cutting out students who skip classes. Dr. Hulon began her education at the University of Southern Mississippi, where she earned bachelor's and master's degrees. She earned her doctorate at Mississippi State University and did additional study along the way at William Carey. She and her husband, Jim, have two boys, Will and Drew.

Dr. Jane Hulon

Dean of Academic Instrucion

Co-Lin's Board of Trustees

The 2005-2006 Board of Trustees includes: Eugene Bates, Chairman, Church Hill; Roy Winkworth, Vice Chairman, Natchez, Tommy Sasser, Secretary, Brookhaven; Steven Ammann, Magee; Calvin Britt, Wesson; Russell Caudill, Monticello; Terry Brister, Bogue Chitto; Jack Burt, Crystal Springs; Don Cagle, Wesson; Jack Case, Brookhaven; Mary Cleveland, Hazlehurst; Rickey Clopton, Wesson; John Dickey, Fayette; Lynwood Easterling, Natchez; Chuck Gilbert, Natchez; Willie Harrison, Brookhaven; Tommy Jolly, Monticello; Melton King, Natchez; Randall Lofton, Brookhaven; Jack McAlpin, Magee; Penny McAlpin, Magee; Dr. Anthony Morris, Natchez; Thelma Taylor Newsome, Natchez; Rickey Smith, Wesson; Lona Thomas, Meadville; Barry Tyson, Bude; Dr. Steve Wells, Brookhaven; Mildred Maxine Williams, Crystal Springs.

Blowing Us Away: Feature Presentations

Every year is marked by certain events, like the Homecoming football game, the Trillium beauty pageant, the election of class officers, Mr. and Miss Co-Lin, and the top-secret selection of Co-Lin's best and brightest into Hall of Fame and Who's Who. Even those on the committee to select Hall of Fame are not aware of the results until the much-anticipated announcement during the spring Awards Day Ceremony. This year, like many in the past, was filled with excitement as we watched the "feature presentations."

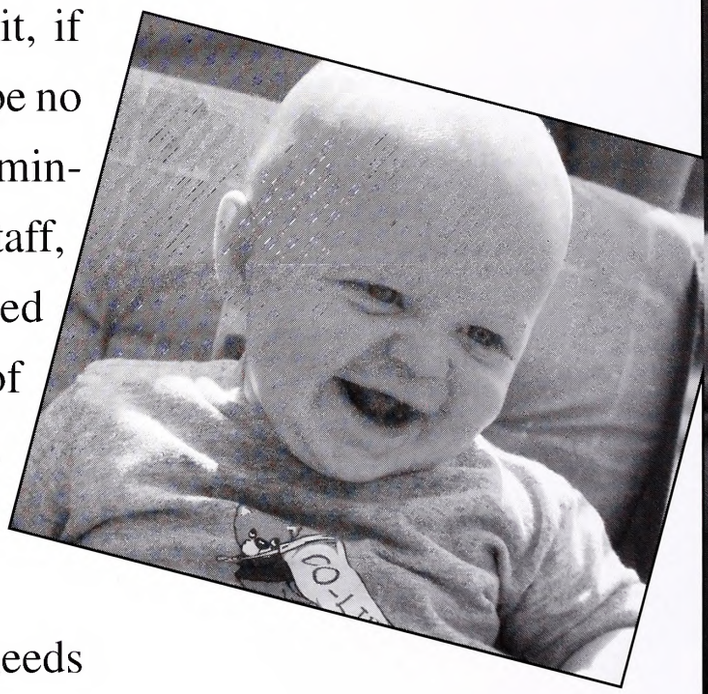
Blowing Us Away:

The Right People Make the Difference

2005



We all need each other. Let's face it, if there were no students, there would be no need for instructors, no need for administrators, no need for a maintenance staff, no need for cafeteria workers, no need for dorm mothers, no need for any of this. If any of the elements essential for the college to run were missing, things would not run smoothly. Thankfully, Co-Lin has everyone it needs to be a fully functional institution of higher learning.

Blowing Us Away: Wolfpack World Series

If we were betting folks, it is most likely we would have lost it all last spring. Co-Lin's baseball team was full of injured players, and many of the seasoned sophomores were on the bench, red shirted by various injuries. No one expected them to go all the way to the World Series. However, they did just that. All our teams were successful in their own way, but none of the successes could have been a more pleasant surprise than Keith Case's team going to the World Series.

Blowing Us Away: Clubs Kick It into High Gear

As always, this year was marked by activities that were sponsored by different clubs on campus. PTK and PBL made sure everyone had an oppurtunity to participate by raising monies for charitable organizations . Of course, there was David Higgs and his "karate kids," giving everyone a "leg up" on personal safety. New this year, was Casey Hardison Pevey's self defense class, which was a huge success and will hopefully de-victimize our college freshman. All in all, these clubs helped give Co-Lin a sense of awareness for those around us.

Natchez Campus

BLOWN AWAY, BUT NOT, BLOWN APART!

Hurricane Katrina blew into the lives of people living along the gulf coast of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana and continued her trek up through the state of Mississippi. She destroyed lives, blew away homes and businesses, and flooded those homes and business she had left standing. She uprooted the lives of her victims and led many of them to seek shelter and safety in near and far away places. This shelter was often found in the arms of family friends, and sometimes, even total strangers.

The effects of Hurricane Katrina were also felt here on the campus of Co-Lin as we got an unexpected vacation. School was closed for two weeks as faculty, staff, and students waited for debris to be cleared and power to be restored to the campus and to our homes.

When we returned to campus, we found ourselves sharing classes with several college students who had been displaced by the storm. We not only opened our doors but also our hearts to these students. We admired their perseverance and determination to stay the course and continue on with their studies with as little interruption as possible. We welcomed these students into our family and let them know that we were there to assist them in anyway we could.

We have learned as we have grown and matured through the years that life can sometimes blow us away with its beauty, wonders, mysteries, and, yes, even its devastations. But most importantly, we have also learned that being blown away does not mean being blown apart. Defeat does not lie in stumbling, falling down, or being blown away. It lies in not staying down once we have fallen or been blown away and in not giving up on our ability to preserve.

For:

> Like the winds of the seas,
> are the waves of time,
> as we journey through life.
> Tis the set of the soul
> that determines the goal,
> and not the calm or strife.
> (Ella Wilcok, 1916)

The Dawn of a New Day ...
Co-Lin/Natchez

Gwendolyn S. McCalip
Acting Dean of the Natchez Campus

Gwendolyn S. McCalip graduated from Mississippi State with a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Education and from Mississippi College with a Master of Education degree in Education Guidance and Counseling. Additional studies include Northeast Louisiana University. She has been a dedicated employee of Co-Lin since 1992, beginning as a part-time psychology instructor and then advancing to Academic Counselor. Currently, she serves as Acting Dean of the Natchez Campus and as the Admissions and Records Director. Prior to her employment at Co-Lin, she worked for the Concordia Parish and Cathedral School Systems.

McCalip is the secretary/treasurer for the Mississippi Association for College Registrars and Admissions Officers. She is a member of Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society, the Southern Association for College Registrars and Admissions Officers, the Mississippi Association for Community and Junior Colleges Registrars and Admissions Officers, the Mississippi Counseling Association for Community and Junior Colleges, the Co-Lin Community College Foundation Board of Directors, and Rotary International.

McCalip was instrumental in creating the F. Kenneth McCalip Memorial Scholarship, named in memory of her husband. She also plays a significant role in the Co-Lin/Natchez Golf Classic, which raises money each year for scholarships for Natchez Campus students. Additionally, she is a Natchez Junior Auxiliary Sustaining Member, and a member of the Pilgrimage Garden Club, the Krewe of Phoenix, and the Kappa Delta Alumni Association. Furthermore, she is a member of St. Mary Basilica church, where she serves as lector. And, she is the mother of Conn Kenneth and Chase McNeil and the grandmother of Meagan, Catherine, Ella, and Macy.

Honors include the High Performance Award, the Mississippi Counseling Association State Recognition Award, and inductions into the Co-Lin Foundation Hall of Fame and the Rotary Paul Harris Foundation Fellow.

When asked to comment on her new role as Acting Dean, she responded that she assumed the role of this position because of her deep love for Co-Lin and its students.

Wearing two hats at the same time keeps McCalip quite busy.

Allen Oliver Receives The Natchez Trillium Dedication

Allen Oliver graduated from Mississippi Valley State University with a Bachelor of Science degree in Natural Science and from the University of Mississippi with a Master of Science degree in Biological Science. Additionally, he received specialist certification in biology from the University of Mississippi. Additional studies include Alcorn State University.

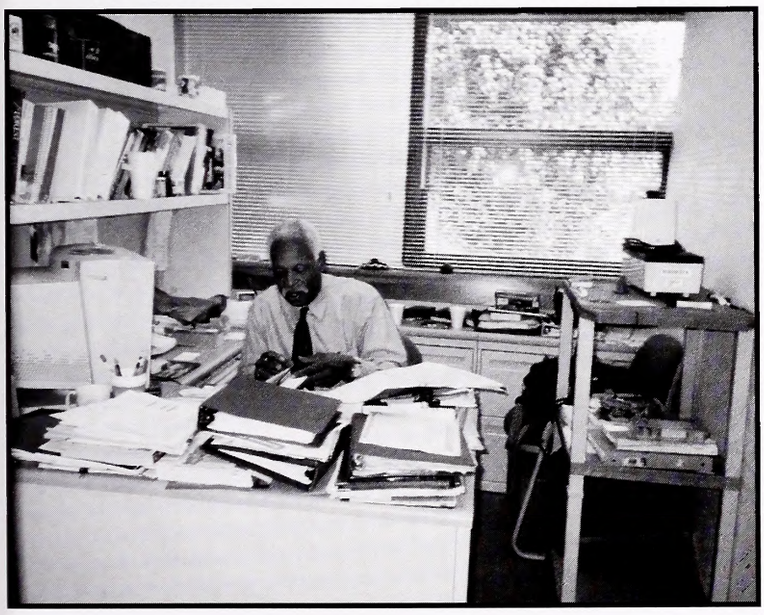
Oliver has been a dedicated employee of Co-Lin since 1974, beginning as a part-time biology instructor and then advancing to full-time instructor in 1996. Prior to obtaining his full-time status at Co-Lin, Oliver was a biological science instructor for the Natchez Public School System, a position he held for 29 1/2 years.

Oliver is a member of the Institute of Higher Learning Alumni Council Legislative Network, the Mississippi Valley State Alumni Association, the Mississippi Junior College Faculty Association, the National Education Association, and the Mississippi Association of Education. He is also a member and former president of the Adams County Association of Teachers. Additionally, he is a former member of the Natchez Civil Service Commission. Furthermore, Oliver is a member of Macedonia Baptist Church, where he serves as a deacon and Sunday School teacher.

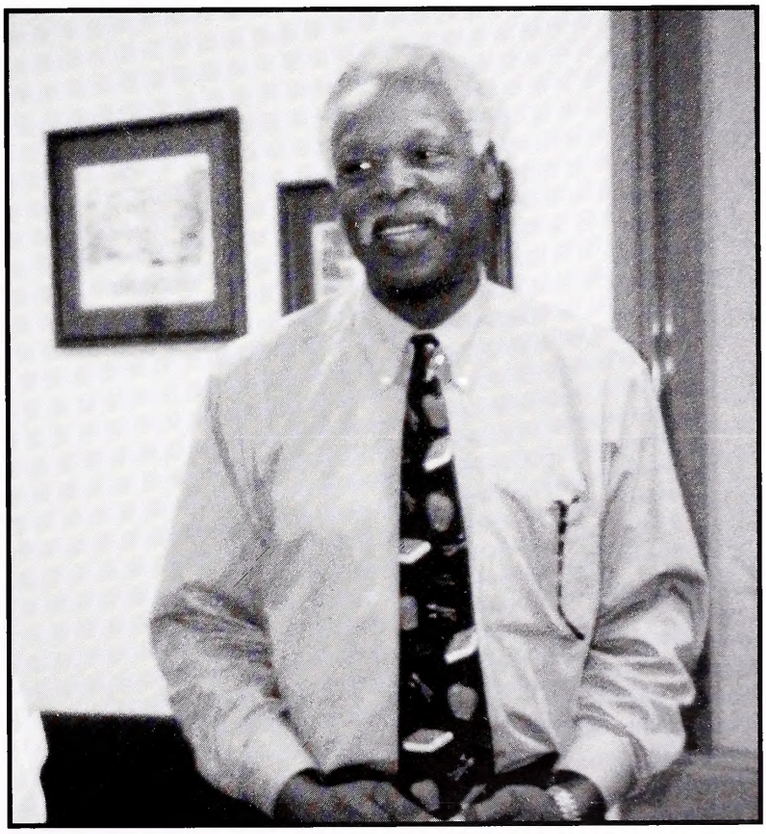
Honors include the Co-Lin High Performance Award, the National Institute for Staff and Organization Development (NISOD) Excellence Award for Contributions to Teaching and Learning, the Lamplighters Teacher's Award, the Natchez High School STAR Teacher's Award, the Who's Who Among America's Teachers' Award, and the 2004 Educator of the Year Award.

Oliver is the husband of Georgia, the father of Staci, and the grandfather of Avry.

With much love and respect, we dedicate the yearbook to Mr. Oliver.



When asked to evaluate Oliver's teaching, one student remarked that Oliver is a very good teacher, who holds the interest of his students.



Oliver perceives teaching to be one of the most rewarding professions in the world. According to him, "a teacher [who] excels in his or her profession is someone who is caring, understanding, and who expects each student to do his or her best to achieve."

MR. AND MISS CO-LIN NATCHEZ CAMPUS

Mr. Co-Lin/Natchez, Joseph Samuel Bullen, is the son of Leon and Dee Bullen. He is a business administration major. Bullen is president of PTK and a member of Circle K, BSU, the Presidents' Council, SHARE, and the Co-Lin Relay for Life team. He is also on the music team at his church. Bullen's hobbies include hunting and playing the guitar and computer games.

Miss Co-Lin/Natchez, Shavondra Tishele Johnson, is the daughter of Sharon Ridley and Larry Johnson, Sr. She is a medical billing and coding major. She is a member of PBL, PTK, and the National Honor Society. While in high school, she was a member of the National Honor Society, FEA, and HOSA. Johnson lists her hobbies as shopping, traveling, dancing, and meeting new people.
